Senator Johnson Wins Gotham

NEW YORK.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California is today the acclaimed leader of the opposition to the League of Nations as proposed in the peace treaty.

In a clear and forceful analysis of the proposed covenant, Senator Johnson, before a great throng in Carnegie Hall here, revealed what he charged were hidden iniquities of the pact and took up the gage of battle contained in President Wilson's treaty statement of last Saturday.

The senator centered his attack upon article 10. This article he called the "Un-American article 10." He said:

By article 10 the United States agrees to maintain and preserve the territorial limits and political independence of every country on earth.

The league means that American boys shall police the world; that all the tottering nations of the earth shall be upheld by our blood and our bone; that Europe, Asia and Africa may draw upon us in their every dispute and quarrel; that our nation will be at the mercy of European and Japanese diplomats, who never had and never will have any sympathy with our aspirations or our ideals; that we, with our glorious past, shall guarantee the territorial integrity of every country on earth and the bondage of every suffering people in anguish begging for freedom; that we destroy our Monroe doctrine and submit controversies on the American continent to the determination by foreign powers.

It means that I must abandon the lessons of my youth, which until this moment have been the creed of my manhood, of American ideals, American principles and American patriotism; that I must deny the Americanism that I taught my children and that, under God's blessing I hope to teach my grandchildren.

It means the halting and betrayal of new world liberalism, the triumph of old world diplomacy, the humiliation and end of American ideals.

The issue is the republic, the republic that Washington gave us, that Lincoln saved for us, whose traditions and ideals have been so gloriously upheld by our valiant sons abroad. The issue is America. And I am an American.

The M. E. and A. A. Purmort families spent the week-end visiting friends at Merced.

The Mystery of Good Macaroni

He was a dapper little drummer who wholesaled macaroni that was different and better, so he said.

"How different and how better?"

"Well, in the first place," he said, "let me ask, do you return your empty macaroni boxes and get credit for them? Yes? . . . . Ah, I thought so! The boxes are refilled by the factory, used over and over, passed from store to store. Consider the armies of germs that must accumulate. The thought is terrible!" He spread his hands apart and shuddered. "Now my firm never refills old boxes. Ours are always new, clean, sanitary."

A good point, that was, and we acknowledged it.

"Then ordinary macaroni," he went on, "the sort that comes in refilled boxes, is made from flour. But my macaroni, Royal Macaroni, is made from semolina, the hard portion of Duram wheat; and contains the rich, oily germs of the wheat berries."

"Germs! Ah——" We shuddered.

"No, no, no;" hastily, "you don't understand. I mean the life principle, the germinating property of the grain. Macaroni so made is more nutritious, less sticky when cooked, and finer flavored. It's the kind made in Italy. It's the sort that gives the Italians their wonderful energy, so that they come here and displace the Americans just as the English Sparrow drives out the native birds!"

The last point was a clincher!

BOY SCOUTS

BOSTON FOR THE BOY SCOUTS

A letter to the editor of The Boston Transcript says in part:

"Everybody sees that we are entering on an era of serious readjustments in wages and prices, and that in very many cases lack of employment for a time and clashes of opinion between employers and employed will be inevitable. Unless we adopt every reasonable means to promote right understanding and good feeling between our various groups—unless we keep to the front the importance of hearty co-operation—much hard feeling is sure to be generated, and we need only to read the newspapers to be warned of the possible results.

"We cannot expect a complete safeguard against this danger, but the public is coming to recognize that the boy scout movement gives considerable protection, because it greatly promotes mutual understanding and good feelings. It not only stimulates properly the boys enlisted in its ranks and so sets good fashion for all boys, but it leads the parents and many friends of the scouts to perceive how greatly their interests are cared for by the community."

The letter was signed by Frank W. Remick, Allen Curtis, Nathaniel H. Stone, Charles Jackson, Charles W. Eliot, I. Tucker Bur, A. Lawrence Lowell, Charles Almy, John R. Macomber, and Henry B. Day.

ANTHONY FIALA IS SCOUT.

Maj. Anthony Fiala, at present connected with the experimental department of the Springfield armory, has recently been elected boy scout commissioner by the local scout council of that Massachusetts city.

Major Fiala is a veteran of the Spanish war. He went to the north arctic regions as a scientific expert in the Baldwin-Ziegler expedition. From 1903 to 1905 he was in command of the second Ziegler expedition, which discovered new islands and waterways in the archipelago of Franz Joseph.

Fiala accompanied Colonel Roosevelt on his trip of exploration in Brazil, and personally prospected many of the unmapped rivers.

His scouting duties include an active interest in the scoutmasters' training class and the chairmanship of the local committee on camping.

K. OF C. AND THE SCOUTS.

The organ of the Catholic boys' high school, "Kenrick," of St. Louis, gives special prominence to the work of the Boy Scouts of America, and states that scouting has received the highest encomiums from the Catholic hierarchy, notably from Cardinal O'Connell and the late Cardinal Farley, also the archbishops of Philadelphia and San Francisco.

"For this reason," continues the article, "many Catholic troops have been organized throughout the United States."

The boy scouts of the St. Louis district have a Catholic scout commissioner, Thomas J. Lyster, who in 1914 as scoutmaster organized the first Catholic troop in St. Louis under the supervision of the Knights of Columbus.

SCOUT TRAINING SAVED LIFE.

His knowledge of first aid learned while a boy scout saved the life of Firman Holland, a son of the assistant postmaster at Burlington, N. J., when wounded in war, according to a letter he wrote home.

GREAT WAR WORK OF PIGEONS ON BATTLEFIELDS AND THE SEA

Carriers of Vital Messages Ever Since Battle of Marne in 1914.

U-BOAT IS TRAPPED BY BIRD

News From Trenches Taken at Full Speed to Headquarters and Supply Lines—Information Gained From Captured Pigeons.

Paris.—At the Ternes gate of Paris may be seen a memorial, the work of Bartholdi, on which is inscribed: "Monument to the Balloonists and Carrier Pigeons of 1870." What memorial will acknowledge the services of carrier pigeons in the world's war of 1914-1918 remains to be seen, but their work amid barrage fire, bursting shrapnel, the zip-zip of machine-gun bullets and the death destroying gases was of enormous value.

Carrier pigeons were used on all the battlefronts but their best work was on the western front, from the channel to the Swiss border and from the Alps to the Adriatic gulf. They carried messages at the Marne, when the Huns were driven back by Marshal Joffre. Hundreds were used in the battle of the Yser, in Flanders, when the Belgians and the French halted the German advance; and they made many and frequent trips in the first battle of Ypres, in the drive on the channel ports when the British, French and Belgians stopped the Germans decisively in the final battle at the close of 1914. They aided in the capture of Neuve Chapelle by the British and they died in numbers with the British Tommies at the second battle of Ypres, when the Germans advanced toward the Yser canal using for the first time poisonous gas. Again the birds did valiant service when the French tried to break through in the Champagne in the fall of 1915, and in the whole series of the Verdun attacks lasting through July, oftentimes the only communications with men in advanced stations were the dogs that crept through the barrages and the carrier pigeons that returned with messages. Where telephone and wireless broke down, and men could not survive the storm of shell fire, it is recorded that 97 per cent of the messages carried by carrier pigeons came safely through.

Told of German Retreat.

When the Germans retired to the "Hindenburg line," it was carrier pigeons carried forward into the front advance lines that brought back the news of the retirement long before telephonic communication could be established. Through the whole area, 1,300 square miles, on a front of 100 miles from Arras to Soissons, carrier pigeons did their work effectively. And wherever the Americans fought, at Cantigny, Chateau-Thierry, Torcy, Bouresches, Belleau wood, Conde-en-Brie, Buzancy, Jaulgonne, Fere-en-Tardenois, Bligne, Cierges, Villers-Argron, Fismes, Frapelle, Bazoches, Juvigny, St. Mihiel, Argonne forest—carrier pigeons were likewise on the job.

A carrier pigeon aided in capturing a U-boat and her crew. A coast watcher on one of the loneliest parts of the west coast at sundown saw the tip of a periscope arise and then the conning tower of a U-boat. The underwater boat stopped, and the officers and crew were seen on deck. The lookout man tied a note bearing the information to the leg of a carrier pigeon and released it from his basket. The next morning a German submarine, which had run out of gasoline, and its officers and crew were taken to a naval sub-base.

A British patrol boat was discovered by a German submarine and torpedoed and shelled. The skipper, having on board a carrier pigeon, wrote a brief message, telling his position and what had happened. As the boat sank, the skipper began swimming for some wreckage to cling to. The pigeon went up gradually in a spiral, and the Germans, seeing it, began shooting at the bird. The skipper, drifting on the wreckage, gave up hope when he saw the bird had been hit. Twenty miles away, however, it lighted on a patrolling destroyer, its silver-gray plumage specked with blood, its tail feathers shot away, and one of its wings wounded. The commanding officer read the message, the destroyer was rushed at full speed to the place indicated, and within three-quarters of an hour from the time that the pigeon was sent off, the officers and crew of the patrol were picked up where they clung to the wreckage.

Spy With Pigeons.

An American at Liege, in writing of the German advance, told this incident:

"As I returned to the city, walking along the River Meuse, I saw one who, oblivious of war and its alarms, was dangling his legs over the water and peacefully fishing. The battle in the air, which he must have witnessed, had not moved him. The certainty that the Germans were only a few miles away had not concerned him. He smoked his pipe and placidly cast his line. It was soothing to overstrained nerves to see that chap, but it was only a few hours later that I learned a German spy had been arrested as he posed as a fisherman, with a creel full of carrier pigeons."

Another story reads:

"In the cowl, habit and tonsure that mark the monk a young man told his beads aboard the train bound for Antwerp. And a woman, hardly more than a girl, kept her eyes fastened on the man of prayers. She studied on the devotion with which his fingers slipped from decade to decade of the long, well-worn rosary that hung from the cincture about his waist. But, although his lips appeared to move in humble supplication, the woman saw that he had failed to kiss the cross. The lapse was significant.

"'Spy!' the girl hissed into the face of the alleged ascetic. In an instant two guards had seized the man and rushed him down the train corridor. The woman examined the small wicker basket behind in the seat. Lifting the lid, she found three pigeons."

Get German Pigeons.

A news dispatch briefly summarized such a find thus:

"A German trawler was captured by a British warship near the Orkney islands to the north of Scotland. She is believed to have been engaged in spying, as carrier pigeons were found on board."

Reference has already been made to the number of messages carried back to the French lines by carrier pigeons in the defense of Verdun. A pigeon captured by the French conveyed this information:

"The rolling fire of the enemy with guns of the heaviest caliber is such that sectors S., C., and H. are to a great extent leveled. The garrison, including that of sector V., is disorganized completely. Some of it has been obliged to fall back on the Eighty-third and Ninety-eighth regiments, which also had to retire.

"Sector V. (von Raun's) was subjected to such fire that its observation post was put out of order. All sorties are being bombarded and one is occupied constantly in replacing them.

"The battalion asks its immediate relief this evening by fresh troops. It can fight no longer.

"(Signed)

"FIRST LIEUTENANT STEINBRECHT."

Carrier pigeons tell headquarters of the progress of a battle. Here is a typical report when the French army fought along the Aisne:

"It immediately appeared that the destruction of the German defense had been accomplished with as much success as could be hoped for in so difficult a country. By 7:30 a. m. we learned by carrier pigeon and other means that the Chateau de la Motte on the French left near Allemant had been carried, and that at the center Malmaison Fort was taken. At 8:45 Allemant village had been occupied, the prisoners numbered a thousand, and the French assault troops were advancing across the central plateau toward Vaudesson and Mont Parnasse quarry. At 10:30 the news was that they were at the north of Hill 173, the further spur of Malmaison plateau, and in a quarry 220 yards west of the fort. By 2:45 p. m. the villages of Chavignon and Vaudesson, with several neighboring quarries lying on the northern edge of the Aisne hills, had been occupied. Chavignon was the furthest point contemplated in the plan and represented an advance of one and one-half miles made in the face of the best remaining troops of the German empire."

Aided by Camouflage.

While many carrier pigeons changed their habits of spiraling, finding it a dangerous practice and learned to fly back and then forward at an altitude comparatively low, camouflage aided birds considerably in getting back to their loft carrying with them messages from troops in front. At Fort Vaux, in the battle of Verdun, the crown prince's army had a special group of men shooting down carrier pigeons as they left the fort.

And another story of Verdun. It was at Thiaumont, sixteen times taken, lost and retaken. Wireless and telephones had long ceased to exist. No human being could cross the terrain. The commandant was in desperate need of communicating with the rear. Suddenly the glasses revealed a dog, crouching on its belly, crawling through the flashes, and in a moment of temporary lull leaping forward. On its back was a pannier. Nearer and nearer the dog came, and prayers were involuntarily offered as the beast flattened out here and there in the debris for shelter. Another lull and the dog leaped forward and at last it scampered into Thiaumont with the pigeons safe in the pannier. On the dog's collar was this message: "We relieve you by attack on Froidterre, 3 p. m."

"Stop the German battery on our left. Here are the elements for pointing," was the written message of the commandant sent back by one of the pigeons. Another momentary lull and the pigeon is released. Dog and pigeon, faithful and distinguished friends of man, have done their work to save civilization.

Red Cross Workers Aid Exiled Greeks

Athens.—In its work in the Greek islands the American Red Cross has the co-operation of the United States navy. Six submarine chasers have been assigned for transporting personnel and supplies.

On the Island of Mytilene are 52,000 Greeks, who fled there from Asia Minor five years ago. Red Cross workers are regularly visiting all the towns and clothing has been given to about 20,000 of the refugees.

At the outbreak of the war, in 1914, there were 3,000,000 in Asia Minor. More than 500,000 escaped to the islands in the Aegean. Thousands were massacred. Armed bands of Turks roamed the countryside, plundering and murdering Greeks wherever found. The others, driven out of their homes and sent inland, are now returning, to find their homes either destroyed or occupied by Turks.

The refugees in the Aegean islands intend to return to Asia Minor as soon as conditions permit. At present the Greek government gives each refugee six cents a day.

The Red Cross is devoting much attention to the prevention of further epidemics, such as the typhus scourge, which took such a heavy toll at Mytilene.

Food is scanty and costly, and most of the refugees are underfed, even in the large towns. Nearly all are in rags. The hospitals are short of medicines and other supplies, and have been crowded by influenza cases.

Clothing, blankets and medicine are needed on all the islands. Canned meat for broth is wanted in the hospitals. American women run the worshops where clothing is made on the three islands of Mytilene, Chios and Samos.

22,000 in Town of Mytilene.

Of the 52,000 refugees on Mytilene 22,000 are in the town of Mytilene and its suburbs; the others are scattered about in 62 villages.

Of the 20,000 refugees on Crios part are sheltered in old houses and the rest in wooden barracks, divided with bagging and old carpets into "rooms," each accommodating a family of from five to ten persons.

The islands of Lemnos, Imbros, Tenedos and Samothrace are served with Red Cross supplies from Mytilene; Oinousa is served from Chios, and Icania from Samos.

The American Red Cross agents were received at Mytilene with the greatest enthusiasm. The horses were unhitched and the carriage drawn by a cheering crowd to the residence of the governor general, who commandeered a private home and placed it at their disposal.

National Guard Loses Most

Suffers More Severely in War Than Regulars or National Army

Study of casualty statistics of thirty combat divisions of the American fighting forces in the war, issued by the war department and giving figures up to a recent date, sheds some light on the relative part played by the regular army, the National Guard, the National army and the marine corps in the war. The tables show those killed in action, dead of wounds, missing in action or taken prisoner. Field signal battalions, ambulance companies, trains, and some other specialized branches of the service are not included, but the tabulation shows graphically the total losses of each basic section of the army.

Slightly wounded or others who were able to return to the service are not included, the figures applying only to those who were absolute losses so far as active military operations were concerned.

Figuring the percentage of loss, not according to the numbers in each section but for the total American force, it is found that the losses of the regular army were 30 per cent, the National Guard 39 per cent, the National army 27 per cent, and the marine corps 4 per cent.

The table follows:

	Killed in action.	Died of wounds.	Missing in action.	Prisoners.	Total.	Pct.
National Guard	11,555	4,566	5,445	1,457	23,023	.39
Regulars	8,524	3,549	5,297	551	17,819	.30
National army	8,023	3,207	3,890	798	15,801	.27
*Marines	1,390	707	271	76	2,444	.04
Totals	29,492	12,029	14,903	2,882	59,087

*The marines are listed with the Second division of regulars.

KEEP POULTRY FREE FROM LICE

Lousy hens are not likely to prove good sitters. Lousy chicks lose vitality and die. A lousy flock is unthrifty. With poultry and eggs selling at high prices, the poultryman can well afford to apply the simple remedies which will keep his birds free from lice and mites.

The University of Missouri college of agriculture has used sodium fluoride effectively and recommends a larger use of it by poultrymen. This chemical is exceedingly poisonous to all species of chicken lice. It kills both adults and young, including the young which emerge from the eggs present at the time of treatment. One application of sodium flouride to all fowls on the farm will completely destroy all lice present.

Sodium fluoride may be applied as a dust or as a dip. One pound of the chemical will be enough to dust about one hundred hens by the pinch method. This method, developed by the United States department of agriculture, is as follows: Hold the fowl by the legs or wings with one hand while with the other hand a small pinch of the chemical is placed among the feathers next to the skin. Apply one pinch on the head, one on the neck, two on the back, one on the breast, one below the vent, one on the tail, one on either thigh, and one scattered on the underside of each wing when spread. Hold the chicken over a large shallow pan while dusting, to recover the material that might ordinarily be lost.

Only One-Fifth of Hen's Egg Is Nutritious; Much of Substance Is Water

In a hen's egg only one-fifth of the substance is nutritious. One-ninth is refuse, and the greater portion, about two-thirds, is water, according to authority.

White-shelled eggs are not so good as yellow ones, for they contain a trifle more water and less fat.

Judged by the amount of nutriment, a goose's egg is the most valuable, next in order are ducks', guinea fowls', hens', turkeys', and plovers' eggs.

Eggs contain a large quantity of sulphur, which is purifying to the blood and good for the complexion. To get the best egg you must feed your fowl on grain. And to cook it in the most digestible way you must not boil the water. Heat the water to 180 degrees and leave the egg in it for ten minutes. You will then digest every morsel. But if you boil it for three minutes no less than one-twelfth of it will fail to be digested. Thus, if you eat two eggs boiled at 212 degrees every day you waste five dozen in a year.

Yankees in France Ate Millions of Pounds of Candy and Confections

An idea of the huge amount of candy consumed by the army is given in a war department announcement. During the five months from November 11, 1918, to April 11, 1919, there were purchased for shipment to the overseas forces 39,094,375 pounds of candy, 5,350,000 packages of salted almonds and peanuts and 2,625,000 packages of popcorn confection.

There was shipped during the month of February 5,335,696 pounds of candy. This included not only candy and confections for sale in the sales commissaries, but also the amount authorized by the ration allowance. The ration allowance of candy for our troops overseas for the month of November amounted to approximately 3,000,000 pounds.

It would take a convoy of 835 three-ton trucks to carry this amount of candy.

Passed Up as a "Runt," Young Schalk Developed Into a Great Backstop

Back in 1910 Frank Navin heard of a kid catcher whose backstopping, running and hitting were startling inhabitants of a small Illinois city which had a club in a bush league.

The Tiger president immediately dispatched one of his hired manhunters to look at the player. The scout liked the catcher, but did not let his enthusiasm get the better of him because the youngster was hardly five feet five inches tall and of slight build. Whoever heard of a runt like that being able to stand up under the fire expected of major league pitchers?

In the meantime equally favorable reports were being received of another minor league catching star whose play attracted much attention in the Texas league. The same scout looked at this catcher.

It finally came time for a showdown. Mr. Navin could get both catchers for reasonable prices, but in the meantime he agreed with the traveling representative that the kid catcher in Illinois was probably too slightly built and he took the one with the Texas club, who was a big man and also looked like a valuable prospect.

The one he picked was Jack Onslow, a fair catcher but a little shy on big league requirements. The one he passed up because he was a runt was Ray Schalk.

The rest is an old story. Schalk has been a star with the White Sox almost ever since and more than once made Mr. Navin holler "ouch!"

SAYINGS OF WISE MEN

A book's a book, although there's nothing in it.

A boor remains a boor, though he sleep on silken bolsters.—Danish Proverb.

Boldness is never blind, therefore it is ill in counsel but good in execution.—Bacon.

Owls Eat Anything and Swallow All Food Whole

Owls have a peculiar method of eating. They eat everything they want whenever they find it, and swallow the "whole works"—whole, says a writer in the Omaha World-Herald. The idea would be the same if you sat down to dinner and consumed the beefsteak, plates, napkins, tablecloth, knives, forks and spoons. After the owl has had this conglomeration in his department of the interior for some time, and it has been digested for all the nutrition there is in it, his organisms inside permit him to drop the refuse out through his mouth in the form of a hard, round pellet.

ALONE WITH THE HOUSE.

I don't make moan when they leave me so—
Alone with the house, an' the Long Ago,
For the young must be up an' out an' away;
My world is Winter, an' theirs is May.
It's only the quiet that comes when they're gone—
The stillness that talks when the dark's comin' on;
The sound of a step on the lonesome stairs,
An' a feelin': The Shadders are sayin' their prayers!
An' the Old Times, that ask you (they never forget!):
"Are you here yet?"

It's jes' like they said it! I look 'round, to see
Jes' who is a-talkin' in that way to me?
An' then it's jes' like to the still place I say:
"Someone must keep house when the rest are away;
An' I'd try to be happy, an' sing me a song,
But some's been away—O so long! O so long!
An' for all o' Life's blessin's, there's somethin' you lack—
The Light that has left you, an' never comes back!
I've waited while many a sun rose an' set—
Yes, I'm here yet!"

But sweet comes the thought to the old folks an' gray:
There's a Providence purpose in lettin' 'em stay;
Not with hands that are folded—for rest-time to pray,
For they still can keep house while the rest are away!
They can wait, till fast 'round 'em the last shadders creep;
They can work till it's sundown, an' God sends 'em sleep.
At the fireside-places, where little folks meet,
They feel on old faces a child's kisses sweet,
An' it's sweet to be livin' for Love don't forget,—
So, I'm here yet!

—Frank L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

The Franchise in Japan.

The franchise in Japan is exercised by about twenty-seven per thousand of the population, or one voter in every thirty-six. Still another way of illustrating the restricted nature of the franchise is to contrast the number of males of voting age with the number on the voters' list. In 1913 there were over 13,000,000 males who could qualify as far as age was concerned, but out of that number only 1,500,000 were on the list, or one in every nine. But startling as are these figures, they do not tell the whole truth about the restrictions upon the Japanese franchise. In the large industrial cities a vote has nothing like the power it has in the country or the smaller country towns. Thus Osaka, with 1,400,000 population, sends six members to the Diet, while Kochi, with just less than 40,000, sends one representative, and Yamanashi prefecture with a population of 619,000 elects five members. Putting these figures in another way, the industrial population of Osaka, the greatest manufacturing city in Japan, sends one member to the lower house for every 233,333 inhabitants; Yamanashi, one for 123,800, and Kochi, one for every 40,000. This example is not an extreme one, and fairly represents the discrimination against the industrial classes which is involved in the distribution of the seats among the various election districts.—Asia Magazine.

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.—Adv.

CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK. UGH!

"Dodson's Liver Tone" better than calomel and can not salivate.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel, just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.—Adv.

Back on the Job

Yes Siree, by heck, Harry's home and what pleases him most, he's "hum ta stay".

Really tho, I enjoyed my service in the "Y" very much and by the recent mails, I am pleased to note that some of my associates liked it. It was a real pleasure to mix with and do for Uncle Sam's nephews at arms and the experiance gained may be of future sevice to myself and friends. One thing was learned, and that right well. We were all made to serve and he who serves best gains most.

After a short stay at the coast I am on the job" again with the determination to "stick". At your service.

Teachers Showered

Miss Clarabelle Bosch of the high school faculty was at home Friday evening to a party of relatives and friends of Miss Angeline Weaver and Mr. Irving W. Snow giving them a miscellaneous shower. After a short program by some of the guests games were played. Blindman's buff began the final game when Miss Weaver was blindfold and an immense shower basket trimmed with daisies was brot into the circle. Many pretty ornamental and useful articles were found in the basket with witty and humorous sayings attached.

The enjoyable occasion closed with a service of light refreshments.

Hyde Cannery Made Model Plant

The Geo. E. Hyde Co's. plant has been enlarged and improved so that the capacity is greatly increased and the fruit can be handled much more conveniently.

A new Dunkley peach peeler is being installed with a daily capacity of 140 tons. In the new warehouse with an added capacity of 80,000 cases Electric Conveyors will be used both for storing and for shipping. The new syrup compartment is a model one with most sanitary equipment and facilities for using all grades of syrups at one time. The cooling room between the cookers and conveyors is convenient and spacious with concrete floors. A model repair shop has been erected where all the repairs of the plant can be made.

A new departure and one that has shown Mr. Hyde's foresight was the erection of a real "honest to goodness" cafeteria where the employees may be served at the lowest possible cost. With "Ma" Kimel as cook it is safe to prophecy its popularity. Near the cafeteria will be about 20 tents to house part of the fruit workers. Other workers will be transported from Son Jose by two large auto buses carrying about 20 persons each. The Hyde Co. and J. P. Hulsman will operate a 4-ton de Martini truck for heavy hauling.

The new welfare building near completion is ideal. It is a two-story brick plastered building. The first floor contains first aid room fully equipped for accidents, ladies' rest and dressing rooms and men's wash room while the upper floor will be used as a men's dormitory.

The Hyde Co., Campbell and the community this model cannery an institution of which we all may well be proud.

Fire Fighters Drilling

The Campbell Fire Company has been reorganized and re-juvinated since last in the limelight of our village. New members have joined bringing the company up to full strength. The officers elected at the recent election were: Chief E. E. Lanphear; assistant chief Edward Genasci, secretary Will Ludwig and treasurer L. Genasci. Chief Lanphear has since resigned and the position fell to Edw. Genasci who appointed Ralph Dunning, captain of chemical, and Will Speegle, captain of hose hook and ladder company. These have appointed as lieutenants, E. W. Preston chemical and Claud Grizzle hose company. Other men have been assigned to their various stations and several drills have been held to acquaint them with their duties. Wednesday evening the company made a record of playing four streams on the old fruit warehouse only three minutes after the alarm had been given, running about two blocks. In the future three consecutive taps will be given to call the company meeting, fire alarms will be sounded by continuous ringing.

Closing Hot Water Bottles.

The hot water bottle will not leak at the mouth if the stopper be screwed in cold immediately after the bag has been filled, for the hot water causes the metal socket to expand and the cold stopper goes in slightly further than if it too had been expanded by heat. After it is in place it too begins to expand and thus tightens and prevents leaking.

To Be Remembered.

Frugality is good, if liberality be joined with it. The first is leaving off superfluous expenses; the last bestowing them to the benefit of others that need. The first without the last begins covetousness; the last without the first begins prodigality; both together make an excellent temper.—William Penn.

SHOT 9 TIMES SOLDIER TAKES HUN TRENCHES

Corporal Storms Heights of Ourcq River With Remnants of His Platoon

At the direction of the War Department General Pershing has forwarded from France accounts of 100 deeds of heroism performed by soldiers of the American forces, most typical of the spirit of our army. The story of Corporal Sidney Manning is one of conspicuous gallantry.

Corporal Manning was in charge of an automatic rifle squad when his battalion assaulted the heights of the Ourcq River. During the advance on the hill Manning's platoon commander was killed, and just as the line reached the crest of the hill the platoon sergeant fell.

Corporal Manning then assumed command of the platoon. Though he himself was severely wounded and was the only survivor of his squad, this soldier led forward the 35 remaining men of the platoon against an enemy strong point, wired, entrenched and defended by machine guns, which dominated the Ourcq valley. He was repeatedly wounded but with seven men took the position. While his men consolidated the line he held off a considerable number of the enemy fifty yards away with his rifle. When the position had been consolidated he crawled back to shelter, having received nine

Cyclones and Tornadoes.

The so-called "cyclones" of the West are "tornadoes," which are whirling storms of great violence, but contracted in area. Tornadoes have been known whose greatest width did not exceed a few rods, and those which exceed several miles in width are very unusual. The ordinary storm, where the wind attains a velocity of 40 to 60 miles an hour, has nothing in common with either a cyclone or tornado. It is a straight inrush of air and does not whirl at all.

Length of Lobsters.

Whatever may be the excellent intent of the bill filed in the Massachusetts legislature reducing the length of lobsters that may be legally taken from 9 to 8 inches, the measure might well be entitled a bill to further the extermination of the lobster. The lobster is rapidly disappearing, partly, at any rate, because young and immature specimens are permitted by law to be caught. The present 9 inches in this state is shorter than the Maine law allows—and that is none too long.—Boston Post.
